incumbent on him to state, that he has at no time had cause to regret the undertaking of a work, which has furnished a most interesting employment for his leisure hours; and which has been honored with a patronage, greatly exceeding his anticipations.